WATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section fair and not so cold tonight and Tuesday; light variable winds.

FOOTBALL.—The Episcopal High School of Virginia Saturday afternoon defeated the team of Roanoke College 10 to 6. This leaves the High School team undefeated in its three games of the season. The game was one of the finest ever seen on the High School grounds. The visitors somewhat outweighed their opponents and scored their first and only touchdown in the early part of the game, but never again got closer to the High School's goal than the thirty-yard line. The High School played a fast and clean game and has met but one defeat this season. The feature of the game was the play of E. Y. Baker, E. H. S. Campbell, left guard, and the two backs, full back and left end, respectively: Hall left half back, and Moss, right guard, of the Roanokes. The game was witnessed by large crowds from Alexandria and Washington. This is the first game lost by Roanoke this season. The line-up of the teams was as follows:

Episcopal High School	Roanoke
Quarter-back	Right end
Full-back	Right tackle
Right half-back	Center

THE NOVEMBER METEORS.—Prof. Edward C. Pickering, of Harvard College Observatory, has issued the following bulletin. "The time of appearance of the November meteors is somewhat uncertain. In 1799 they appeared in the night between November 11 and November 12, in 1833 on November 12 and 13, and in 1866 on November 13 and 14. This year, therefore, we might expect them early in the morning of Wednesday, November 15. On the other hand, two English astronomers, Messrs. Sney and Downing, from a careful discussion of the paths of these meteors, predict their appearance on the morning of Thursday, November 16. In 1833 the principal shower lasted five or six hours; in 1866 for less than one hour. In any case, comparatively few meteors may be expected before midnight. It would be safest, therefore, to watch the northeastern sky on both Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and, if many meteors are seen before midnight a greater number may be expected later."

PERSONAL.—Mr. William L. Allen has gone to White Sulphur Springs for his health.

Mr. J. W. Daniel, jr., was in the city last night on his way to the University of Virginia. He was a guest at the Exchange.

Mr. John Davis, upon whom an operation was performed recently, is improving.

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee arrived in Staunton Saturday night to visit his daughter, Miss Virginia, who is a pupil at the Virginia Female Institute. The Stonewall band serenaded him at the hotel and he addressed a crowd of fully 1,000 people after which an informal reception was held.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Dishman are attending the exposition in Philadelphia and from thence will make a tour of New York State.

Mr. Kosioczek Kemper, jr., has returned from Mississippi for a short visit to his home in this city, but will return to Mississippi in a few days.

ANOTHER RAILROAD SURVEY.—C. L. Campbell has been located a route for a railroad, which he says he is going to build from Washington to Fairfax O. H. The route as located will pass through Falls Church near Dr. Hodgkin's place, and thence through the lands of Duncan and Osborne to West End; thence through the Campbell tract to Fairfax O. H. This is considered a very feasible route and good grade. Mr. Campbell claims to have the funds in hand with which to build the road, provided the right of way can be secured and sufficient interest manifested by the land owners along the route to induce him to push the matter forward. —[Falls Church Monitor.]

ARRESTED.—Ephraim Bumbrey, who was several days ago indicted by the King George grand jury on a charge of boarding the oyster vessel Rebecca Smith, in Machodoc creek, and shooting and robbing Capt. Pritchard, of this city, has been captured and lodged in the jail of King George county. He declares that he knows nothing whatever about the horrible deed, but fails to satisfactorily account for his whereabouts on the evening when the dastardly crime was perpetrated, and his innocence was not indicated by any manifestation of genuine surprise when the officers arrested him. Capt. Pritchard has about recovered from his wounds.

THE FAIR.—Miss Mary E. Murtaugh, the palmet, is again assisting at the Sisters' fair. The remarkable success of this lady in delineating the lines of the hand is well known, and she is kept busy every evening. Every line is explained, and with the aid of a magnifying glass the minutest ones are brought out, giving even the smallest incidents in the subject's life. After their weekly meeting and drill tonight the Alexandria Light Infantry will attend the Sisters' fair. The Hibernians will attend on Thursday night next. The following engineers are contestants for the B. L. E. pin: Messrs. Charles Budd, Wm. Bruin, John Watkins, John Spencer, John Davis and Wm. Moore.

YESTERDAY was a bright, crisp fall Sunday and all the churches were well attended at both morning and evening services. Numbers of persons were on the streets, while many others enjoyed strolls into the country.

Alexandria Council, National Union, meets tonight.

The Best Prescription for Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. 50c.

CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE CITY.—Judge C. E. Nicol presiding.—Lambert vs. Morven Land and Improvement Company; decree confirming partition of land among stockholders. Voland vs. Voland and Savage vs. Savage; decrees for divorce. Walker vs. Mutersbaugh; decree of reference. Crosby and Leib vs. Henchman; demurrer and answer filed and case set for hearing in vacation. Bennett vs. Kengle; decree for sale. Cooper vs. Washington Southern and Southern Railway companies; set for Wednesday.

DEATH OF MRS. PFAUMAN.—Mrs. Ida Pfau, the venerable mother of Mrs. Carl Fleischmann, died at a late hour Saturday night at her rooms in the Hotel Fleischmann, south Royal street. Mrs. Pfau had been in bad health for several weeks, but Saturday she appeared in good spirits, and her death was a shock to the family. Deceased was about 66 years of age, and was a native of Germany. For some years she resided in Washington, and had a host of friends there. The remains were taken to Washington yesterday for interment.

POLICE COURT.—Mayor George L. Simpson presiding.—The following cases were disposed of this morning: Edith Bates, colored, charged with disorderly conduct, was fined $5.

A white man charged with being a vagrant, was sent to the work house for 30 days. Jack Washington, charged with disorderly conduct, was dismissed.

Night Report.—Last night was clear and cool. One prisoner and four lodgers were at the station house.

RAILROAD READING ROOMS.—The services at the Railroad Reading Rooms' auditorium yesterday evening were conducted by Mr. H. Powell, of the Theological Seminary, and a large crowd was in attendance. Solos were sung by Rev. Mr. Chapman, of the Seminary, and Mr. T. H. Netherlands, of this city, and were greatly enjoyed by all present. Tonight Rev. Mr. Mellin, of Geneva, N. Y., will have charge of the services, and especially fine music is promised.

STRUCK BY A TRAIN.—The electric train which left the corner of King and Royal streets at 2 o'clock this evening for Mt. Vernon when at the corner of Royal and Wolfe streets struck a coal cart belonging to Mr. T. J. Fannon and knocked the horse down and damaged the cart. A young man named Harvey Sullivan, who was in the cart, had a leg painfully but not seriously hurt by the horse falling upon him. The horse was slightly cut about the shoulders.

SUIT.—Mrs. Eliza R. Scott, administratrix of J. R. Scott, today entered suit in this city against the Washington Steamboat Company, Limited, and the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company for $10,000 for injuries to her husband, the late J. R. Scott, who was hurt by the collision near this city in September, 1897, between the steamers Columbia and the Newport News.

The infant child of Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Hunter McQuire was christened at St. Mary's Church by Rev. H. J. Cutler on Saturday afternoon. Miss Mary Louise Wimsatt, of south Washington, a cousin of Mrs. McQuire, being sponsor for Master Kurtz Johnson McQuire.

LOCAL BEVILLES.

The regular meeting of the Business Men's League will be held tonight.

Four vessels loaded with oysters are now at the oyster dock at this city.

The Washington Ministerial Association of the M. P. Church met in this city today.

The County Supervisors met today and transacted some routine business, audited accounts, &c.

Mr. James Allen, who has been suffering from typhoid malaria, was admitted to the Infirmary yesterday.

There was a frost almost equal to a light snow this morning, and ice formed along the river shores last night.

Mr. Aubrey Bowie, of this city, and Miss Roberts Stringfellow, of Culpeper county, will be married at Brandy on the 20th proximo.

The tug Minerva was sent to Baltimore for general repairs, having failed to pass an inspection in Georgetown on Saturday.

Rev. Mr. Honey, who was expected to preach at the M. P. Church yesterday, failed to reach this city, so no services were held in that church.

The flag purchased for Lee school building with the proceeds of Prof. Gilbert Walden's lecture has been received, and will at once be hoisted on the building.

The rooms over Burke & Herbert's bank (Miss Burke's studio) will be open on November 15, at 11 o'clock to receive garments for the Needlework Guild.

A letter received here today from Mani states that Irvin Page, of this city, a machinist on the U. S. steamer Solace, died there recently and was buried at sea.

In the 27th regiment, which on Friday last killed and captured a number of Filipinos, are a number of the former members of company F, Third Virginia regiment.

Mrs. Maggie Sanders fired a pistol at her head yesterday in Washington, but was not much hurt. It is said the woman had been grieving over the loss of her only child.

Gilman Hammond, a Southern Railway brakeman, was instantly killed at Danville yesterday. He was a brakeman on an incoming freight, and was standing on a box car of the rapidly approaching train.

Twelve hundred primary Sunday school children from churches of different denominations in all parts of Washington were assembled in one grand chorus in the Washington National Cathedral yesterday afternoon.

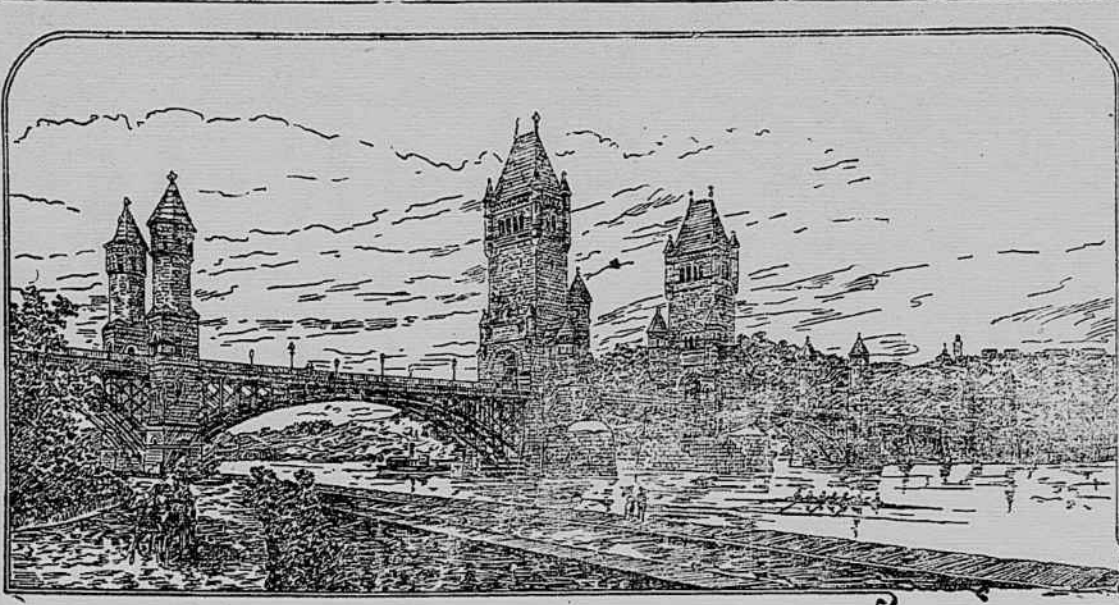

Mr. Taylor Arnold, an employee at the Southern Railway shops, was painfully injured on Saturday by the falling of a heavy piece of steel. He was attended by Dr. M. W. O'Brien, and later removed to his home at Ivy Hill.

Henry F. Emmert, a prominent citizen of Washington county, Md., died yesterday at his home in Hallsby, aged 67 years. He was a brother of Mr. John W. Emmert, of this city, and of Mrs. O. F. Filipo, formerly of this city.

The funeral of "Aunt" Fannie Harris, an old and esteemed colored resident of this city, took place from the First Baptist Church yesterday. The deceased was a faithful, charitable woman, and we have reason to think that Master will say to her, "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

The examiners who conducted the examination of the applicants for the position of City Engineer have, it is understood, presented their report to be presented to the City Council tomorrow night. It is rumored on the streets that Mr. L. B. Grubbs, of Washington, passed the examination.

The fourth autumn meeting of the Washington Jockey Club was inaugurated at the National Hotel on Saturday afternoon. The meeting was a large attendance, a good track, and large fields of horses. The attendance of local race goers was the largest ever seen on an opening day. The meeting promises to be the most successful ever given in the District.

THE PROPOSED MEMORIAL BRIDGE.

Yesterday's New York Herald contained a fine picture of the proposed memorial bridge to span the Potomac and unite the city of Washington with Alexandria county. The Herald in its description of the structure, among other things, says:

"One of the most interesting memorials ever erected in honor of the men who have died on land and sea to make and keep this nation what it is, is to be in the form of a beautiful bridge 2,200 feet long, 70 feet wide, across the Potomac at Washington. The cost has been estimated at from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000. The structure is to be 'A Memorial to American Patriotism.' In its scope and purpose it will include the valiant men of every period of our history and of every section of our common country. It will represent no North, no South, no East and no West, and no particular war from 1776 to 1898, but it will perpetuate forever the heroic deeds of all men known as 'Americans' throughout the world. It is hoped that with its erection will die every ignoble prejudice of the past, and that in its granite and steel will endure the redeeming nobleness of American character since the United States government was founded. The project is very dear to the heart of the President. Mr. McKinley has for years hoped and worked to provide some memorial in which sectionalism might be lost and in which the patriotic national spirit might be completely represented. In this effort the President will be sustained by Mr. Henderson, Speaker-to-be of the House. General Henderson is an ardent Grand Army man, and has been active throughout his Congressional career in obtaining money to build memorials on the various battlefields of the civil war. The bridge across the Potomac is known to have his enthusiastic endorsement. It is now thought that the proposition to erect such a memorial in Washington will promptly be agreed to by Congress. The designs will be submitted January 16, 1900, and it is expected that before the end of February work upon the memorial bridge will definitely begin. President McKinley's speech in Atlanta last spring, when he took occasion to say that the time had come when the North might with propriety share with the South the care of Confederate graves, pointed the way to an even larger scope for the memorial, and made it easy for northern members of Congress to suggest that the bridge should memorialize, so far as the civil war was concerned, not only the men who wore the blue, but also those who, while wearing the gray, died fighting valiantly for what they believed to be right. The President particularly was in favor of the plan which included the heroes of the 'Lost Cause.' According to the survey made in 1897, the bridge will start from the south end of Observatory Hill, near the foot of New York avenue. It will cross Water street and strike the Potomac river at a point directly opposite Arlington. It will span Annapolis Island and Little River and touch the Virginia shore on the Georgetown and Alexandria road, about two hundred yards north of the Sheridan gate of the National Cemetery. In addition to the memorial bridge, it is also expected that a memorial road will be built from the Virginia side of the bridge direct to Mount Vernon, the house and grave of Washington, a distance of fourteen or sixteen miles, according to the route taken. It is probable that Congress will not favorably on the bill appropriating money to build this road. When it is finished it will be the finest boulevard on the continent."
